

Capreolus Club

Reims France Event (Wild Boar, Mouflon, Sika, Red and Fallow)

Wednesday 4th – Friday 6th October 2017

A first for the club, we have negotiated access to a first-class 650 acre hunting estate near Reims with the unique chance to stalk wild boar on foot – an opportunity virtually unheard of in Europe. Additionally, the October date we have chosen coincides with the Fallow, Red and Sika rut, so the estate should be alive with the sound of rutting deer.

Hosting the trip will be the Capreolus Club's James Mott and Sam Farrow, who will be acting as your chauffeurs and guides. The trip is for up to 6 rifles of all abilities and estate rifles are available for those without suitable calibre rifles/ no current UK FAC. The trip is primarily for hunting wild boar but medal class Mouflon, Sika, Red and Fallow are also available to shoot. Trophy fees for all available species are shown below.

There are four hunt sessions. For each session, some hunters will be placed in high towers and the others accompanied on foot with experienced guides.

Accommodation

We will be staying at the Chateau De Rilly which is a first class hotel located in the Reims Mountain Regional Natural Park. Facilities include 2 saunas' and a jacuzzi spa bath.

The Chateau has individually decorated rooms, traditional furniture with W-Fi, en suite bathroom with shower and bathtub.

All hunters have a room and double bed to themselves. Evening meals will be served in the Chateau's excellent restaurant along with choice French wines.

Cost: £1475-00 + trophy fees (see below).
